

User Manual Authorization

To use the system, it is necessary to log in with a username and password provided by the administrator. Authorization is performed on the system's login page. To log in, enter the username and password in the respective fields. User creation is described below in the section on User Administration.

tLab Anti-APT

The login form consists of two input fields stacked vertically. The top field is labeled 'Username' and has a user icon on its right side. The bottom field is labeled 'Password' and has an eye icon on its right side. Below these fields is a blue button with the text 'SIGN IN' in white capital letters.
